Concept Note:

Research is the systematic method consisting of enunciating the problem, formulating a hypothesis, collecting and analysing the data and reaching certain conclusions either in the form of solutions or in certain generalisations for some theoretical formulation. Now a day ethical issues in any research much more significant as it protect human participants and serves interests of individuals, groups and society as a whole. Research ethics in the social sciences presents a different set of issues than those in other research. There are many ethical issues to be taken into serious consideration for research. Therefore, this workshop consists of series of interactive sessions on research ethics by experts from premier institutes of the country who will be delivering lectures on recent trends in ethical issues and academic writing in social sciences. The purpose of the workshop is to enable the participants from different disciplines to develop an understanding and provide them a comprehensive overview of framework of research ethics, database, research metrics, steps in academic writing and publication policies. The sessions designed for the workshop will facilitate the participants to identify the predatory publishers and journals, idea of scientific misconduct and redundant publication in social science research. This will strengthen their faculties to develop and contribute meaningful research publications. Researchers, teachers and practitioners across disciplines will benefit from this workshop as it encompasses most relevant ethical issues in academic writing in social science research.

Objectives

The objectives of the workshop are:

- to enable participants to understand the ethics in social science research;
- to introduce them to writing research article;
- to acquaint them structure of academic and qualitative writing;
- to impart them knowledge on scientific misconduct and redundant publication;
- to apprise them about open access publishing and initiatives;
- to initiate them with predatory publishers and journals;
- to familiarize them with indexing and citations database, Research metrics and
- to enhance their skills in references and bibliography in academic writing.

About the Organisers:

Dhakuakhana College in the District of Lakhimpur, Assam (India) was established in 1966 by way of public donations. It envisages social transformation through higher education and community reach out programs. The History of the college is a reflection of keen and earnest desire of the people of Dhakuakhana where most of the inhabitants are belonging to the underprivileged sections of the society viz. the Scheduled Tribes, Scheduled Castes and Other backward classes. The college is affiliated to the Dibrugarh University, Dibrugarh and recognized by the UGC under sections 2(f) and 12(B).

Department of Sociology, Dhakuakhana College: The Department of Sociology, Dhakuakhana College was started in 1967. The department offers both Honours and Non-Honours courses. Presently, the Department has four permanent faculties. It is one of the most dynamic department in the college and has organized many State and National level seminars funded by UGC and ICSSR. Most of the alumni of the Department are pursuing higher education in different institutions and also qualified in various competitive examinations.

Department of Sociology, Dibrugarh University: The Department of Sociology was started in the year 1967. The introduction of Sociology in Post-Graduate level in Dibrugarh University had created a new chapter in the growth and development of Sociology in the North-Eastern Region of India. It is the first department of sociology in a university in this region. Since its inception the department has been designing its academic curriculum as per the changing intellectual fervor of the region. The course curriculum of the Department at M.A. (CBCS) and Ph.D. / M. Phil levels have been prepared keeping in view the manpower requirements in various industrial organizations and departments of both public and private sectors. Besides providing teachers in Sociology for Universities Under Graduate Colleges and Higher Secondary Schools of the region this Department has been creating specialized manpower in various capacities to Oil, Coal, Plantation and Power Industries. Alumni from this department are also assets to various government departments such as State Administrative Services, State Police and Prison Services, State Economics Services, Town Planning, Health and Family Welfare, Social Welfare and Probation etc. The Department of Sociology has also played a key role in the establishment of “The Centre for Social Work Studies” in 2010-11 academic session for teaching Post Graduate semester course in Master of Social Work (MSW).
